Who is MESA and The Asset Management Council?

MESA – the Maintenance Engineering Society of Australia is a Learned Technical Society of The Institution of Engineers, Australia and is a not for profit member organisation. MESA established the Asset Management Council, also a not for profit organisation, to further promote Asset Management and Maintenance Engineering.

Why join?

Membership provides significant benefits which, apart from priority access to events and publications, include priority notification of services and events, substantial price discounts and member only access to technical resources.

Membership is tailored to suit individuals and corporations through a range of membership levels including individual and corporate bronze, silver and gold.

Membership benefits

Networking and Technical Information

Access to technical information and networking is provided through a range of programs for the maintenance and asset management community. These include technical meetings, seminars and workshops and networking at more than 10 chapters around Australia, the annual ICOMS Asset Management Conference, website, The Asset Journal, and discounts on seminars and publications.

Leading international forum

ICOMS Asset Management Conference

Held annually at various locations around Australia since 1994, the ICOMS Asset Management Conference is recognised as a leading forum on the international asset management calendar. Technical papers are peer reviewed and ICOMS delivers peer discussion and networking, emerging trends and disciplines, and business services and product awareness.

The hard word on asset management

The Asset Journal

The Asset Journal is the official journal of MESA and the Asset Management Council.

Industry recognises excellence

Asset Management Excellence Awards (AMEA)

The Asset Management Excellence Awards (AMEA) are presented at the annual dinner, during ICOMS, the AM Council's annual asset management conference. Asset management excellence is recognised and celebrated in the company of hundreds of industry peers and leaders.

Enhancing skills in all areas

Training Courses

The Asset Management Council ensures that skills training is available in all major areas of the asset management discipline and where necessary will develop training materials. MESA and the Asset Management Council are working with international organisations to establish competency standards/requirements.

Strategic Asset Management Policy

In addition to the excellence award benchmarking process, Australian organisations are now able to access key AM Council and MESA resources (people and know how) to provide independent leadership and guidance on strategic asset management policy. This assistance covers all aspect of the why, what and how of strategic asset management.

International Affiliations

Through international affiliations, members have access to international technology, thinking and contacts. Memorandums of Understanding and agreements are in place with a range of international organisations, including the Society for Maintenance and Reliability Professionals, the UK based Institute of Asset Management, the International Foundation for Research into Maintenance, the South African Maintenance Association, the Plant and Maintenance Association of Canada and the Society of Logistic Engineers. Local affiliations include the Centre for Integrated Engineering Asset Management (CIEAM), Systems Engineering Society of Australia, and the Risk Management Society of Australia.
